

Daniel Blythe Author Visit: Thursday 25th January 2018

Doctor Who, children's, Young Adult writer with over 20 years' experience |
Member of the Society of Authors | Published in the UK, Europe,
South America and the USA | Experienced speaker in schools since 2007

I will be an invited visiting author in your child's school on the above date.

I started out writing for the New Doctor Who Adventures, and I wrote the BBC Books story Autonomy for the 10th Doctor. I write non-fiction, including Famous Robots and Cyborgs, as Dan Roberts. I also wrote Shadow Runners/Shadow Breakers for publishers Chicken House (UK/Europe) and Scholastic (USA). My Emerald Greene series of supernatural/fantasy stories for children is now available too. My books are equally suitable for boys and girls, and age guidance is given below.

My core values are all about enthusing and inspiring young people to read and write for pleasure. To find out more in advance of the day, please look at www.danielblythe.com, which is my official website, or my Facebook page at www.facebook.com/danielblythewriter. I will be giving an illustrated presentation and answering questions, and leading creative writing workshops in the classroom. I will also be selling signed books at £5.00 each (cash only on the day please) which is a big discount on the shop price.

I have also written several books for Badger Learning aimed at "reluctant" teen readers ("hi-lo" non-fiction and fiction, i.e. aimed at teens for interest but with reading levels at age 9-10). I do not bring copies of these with me, as unfortunately the publisher cannot supply discounted author copies – they have to be ordered from their website.
